

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

The Women Peacemakers Program-Africa (WPP-A) is the Nonviolence women's peace organization committed to empowering African women peacemakers and activists by promoting Gender-sensitive Active Nonviolence as a way of life and as a means of transforming unjust political, social and economic structures in Africa for sustainable peace.

The Women Peacemakers Program-Africa seeks to build a movement of Gender Sensitive Active nonviolence in Peacebuilding by way of Capacity Building through its trainings. We believe that Gender-sensitive Active Nonviolence is the way to change Africa. No evil can defeat the power of Nonviolence. What recently happened in Tunisia and Egypt are examples on our continent of the power of Nonviolence in removing dictatorships. We are proud of the fact that our trainers have been trained by the activists who were involved in the 'people's power movement' in the Philippines which overthrew the government of Ferdinand Marcos.

In this regard, The Women Peacemakers Program-Africa (WPP-A) is organizing a Movement building and Gender-sensitive Active Nonviolence training to build the capacities of 26 heads of organizations from conflict and post-conflict fragile states in Africa, notably Kenya, Nigeria, Sudan, Somalia, Eritrea, Uganda, Cote d'Ivoire, Liberia, Congo DRC, Burundi, Rwanda, Zimbabwe and Madagascar. The training is to be held in Accra, Ghana from March 28th to April 1st 2011.
